Society Forsakes City Homes for the Country

Outdoor Sports Are Now in Full Swing at the Big Estates Near New York; First of the Season's Hunt Meets Is Held at Belmont Park Terminal

Country house life is now being enjoyed to the full at the big estates near New York and are the scenes of gay parties over the week ends. The city, in consequence, socially speaking, is almost deserted over Saturday and Sunday. Tuxedos, the Berkshires, Long Island, the Morris-town section of New Jersey, Westchester and the homes of the fashionable set along the Hudson are the gathering places for the smart set for three days of the week. Outdoor sports are now in full swing and tennis, golf, polo and racing are the attractions by day, with large dinners and dances in the evening.

The first of the hunt meets took place yesterday at the Belmont Park terminal, opposite the park, and attracted many persons socially prominent. The Long Island set was, as usual, out in force, coming over to the course from country places in the neighborhood and lunching at the Turf and Field Club in Belmont Park, formerly the old Maclean mansion. Others motored out from the city and still others went out on the special trains.

It was the largest gathering of society at an outdoor affair this year, for the first time since before the war. For the first two weeks of next month society's interest will be centered almost entirely on the June wedding of Miss Mary Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Reynolds, of the city, who will be married at any time since before the war. Many of the weddings will take place in the country. The ceremonies will be performed either in the quaint country churches or on the lawns of the big estates.

The picturesque little St. John's Church, at Cold Spring Harbor, L. I., will be the scene of the wedding of Miss Maud E. Kahn, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Kahn, to Major John Charles Oakes Marriott, D. S. C., who until recently was assistant military attaché of the British Embassy in Washington. It will take place on June 16, and as the bride is small only relatives and a few friends will be invited to the ceremony. The bride's father, Mr. Kahn, however, at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Kahn at Woodbury, L. I., will be more general. Miss Kahn will have her maid of honor, Miss Margaret D. Kahn, for her maid of honor, and Major Marriott, after being detached from the embassy in Washington, was posted to a Guards regiment in London, where he is at present. He has been granted a three weeks' leave for his wedding and will arrive in New York on June 15. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marriott, of Stowmarket, Suffolk, England, and the youngest major in the British army. He fought during the entire war and was the Distinguished Service Order, the Military Cross, the Croix de Guerre, as well as other decorations. Miss Kahn also did her bit in war service, first in France and then in England. She received from the French government the Medal of Reconnaissance Française (French gratitude).

Following close upon the announcement of their engagement comes the date of the wedding of Miss Dorothy Kiesel, eldest daughter of the late Gustav E. Kiesel, to Paul L. Kiernan, of this city. It will be celebrated on June 8 at Wheatheaf House, in Morristown, N. J., where the bride is now residing and will be small and quiet. Shortly afterward Mrs. Kiesel will sail for England to join in London her daughter, Mrs. Richard Pense, who is Miss Jeanette Kiesel. Mr. Kiernan is the son of the late Lawrence Kiernan and is a member of the New York bar.
